PRESS RELEASE

Bielefeld, 4 March 2014 / PR 0303

Return to the sports car world championships (WEC) and 24 hours of Le Mans race

Porsche presents DMG MORI as exclusive premium partner in Geneva

Bielefeld. On 4 March, Porsche introduces its new motorsports partner at the Geneva International Motor Show: DMG MORI joins as exclusive premium partner of the Porsche Team for its return to the top category of the World Endurance Championship (WEC).

Under the motto "Mission 2014. Our Return" Porsche is returning in 2014 to the LMP1 class of the FIA World Endurance Championship after an absence of more than a decade. The new efficiency-based regulations of the WEC requests future orientated hybrid technologies which also will be realised in the serial production. DMG MORI, as the exclusive technology partner of the Porsche Team, will support Porsche in its return to the top class of sports car world motor racing championships (WEC). The WEC consists of eight rounds on three continents and includes the Le Mans 24 Hours as the season's highlight.

Friedrich Enzinger, Vice president LMP1, says: "We are very proud of this partnership for our challenging WEC project."

Dr. Rüdiger Kapitza, chairman of the Executive Board of DMG MORI SEIKI AKTIENGESELLSCHAFT, states: "DMG MORI represents tradition, precision and technological leadership with a global presence and therefore is an ideal match for the brand values and technological demands of Porsche. We look forward to a strong, reliable partnership."
